

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

of the last twenty-five years, and that the names of the majority of all the persons who have been admitted to the membership of the Society, including those who have been admitted since the death of the sons of the original members, are not so numerous as it would be possible to show, and that the following names of persons who were at the task as first named, as the names of the original family, as the family of this country and those who were admitted afterwards, would be numerous and have not been included. Nevertheless, the information obtained by the examination of records is interesting and important, and that instead of being a mere list of the names of the persons, I decided to trace to a certain line the descendants of the original members, Eliph Hastings, Hartford and Daniel Clark, Hartford, who accompanied each other to this country in 1713, and settled in that part of Virginia now known as Amherst County, and from whom most of the Burfords in this country are descended. This work, thus undertaken, has been pursued during the intervening years, and the results of my labors are now presented in part in this form. Many difficulties and delays have been encountered, some because of failure to receive answers to letters, and others owing to the fact that the original records have been scattered and lost, and the names and dates have given up, and as far as it has been possible to trace the genealogy, the

More than twenty-five years ago I undertook to trace the ancestry of all the persons of the name of Burford of whom I might hear, hoping in that way to show a relationship between all persons of the name residing in this country and also if possible to show that they all came originally from the town of Burford, England. It soon became evident, however, that the task as first planned was practically an impossibility, as the family in this country had become widely scattered and many valuable records had been lost or destroyed. Nevertheless, the information obtained in this first attempt proved so interesting and instructive that instead of abandoning entirely the proposed genealogy, I decided to trace in a direct line the descendants of the two cousins, Elijah Hastings Burford and Daniel James Burford, who accompanied each other to this country from England in 1713 and settled in that part of Virginia now known as Amherst County, and from whom most of the Burfords in this country are descended. The work thus undertaken has been pursued during the intervening years and the result of my labors are now presented in permanent form. Many difficulties and delays have been encountered, some because of failure to receive answers to letters and others owing to the fact that occasionally information presented conflicted with other data and required careful investigation. Hundreds of letters have been written and received and the names and dates here given are correct in so far as it has been possible for me to corroborate them.

The fact that my father, Miles Washington Burford, and my mother, Nancy Jane Burford, were descendants from the two cousins above mentioned, my father from Elijah Hastings and my mother from Daniel James, and therefore were themselves distant cousins (my father in the fourth degree and my mother in the fifth degree from the common ancestor), has given me a special interest as well as special opportunity in tracing both lines of descent.

LINEAGE ON FATHER'S SIDE.

Elijah Hastings Burford was born of English, Scotch and Welsh ancestry, in the town of Burford, Oxfordshire (County) England, February 9th, 1682, and emigrated to North America August 3rd, 1713, locating in that portion of Virginia now known as Amherst County, where he engaged in farming and tobacco planting. On November 10th, 1725, he married Mary Jane Hastings, whose parents came to America with him. He died in Virginia, January 31st, 1771. Aged 89 years.

Daniel James Burford, the eldest child of Elijah Hastings Burford and Mary Jane Hastings, was born May 4th, 1729. At the age of 25, and upon his birthday, May 4th, 1754, he married Polly Ann Jones. They had five sons and one daughter—the latter dying in infancy. The sons were named John William, Wyatt, Milton, Daniel and Cary. Daniel James Burford died in Amherst County, Virginia, June 6th, 1800. Aged 71 years.

John William Burford, the eldest son of Daniel James Burford, was born June 21st, 1756. He enlisted in 1776 and served in the Revolutionary War for American independence, returning home in 1780, severely wounded. On December 12th, 1782, he married Nancy Hastings Burford, (a third cousin) granddaughter of Daniel James Burford, who came to America with Elijah Hastings Burford, his first cousin. John William Burford and his wife Nancy had three children, named John, Milton and Elizabeth. On July 19th, 1788, John William Burford died in Virginia from the effects of his army service and wound.

Wyatt Burford, born October 1st, 1759, married, late in life, Prudence Smith. Their only child was a daughter, born July 4th, 1807. She married Harry L. Burford (her third cousin) June 6th, 1830, and later moved to Illinois, where, in 1900, she was enjoying fair health for her age, she being then in her 94th year. Wyatt remained in Virginia when his three younger brothers moved to Kentucky.

Milton, Daniel and Cary Burford, the three younger sons of Daniel James Burford, together with Nancy Hastings Burford, the widow of their brother John William Burford, and her three children, joined with many others in the fall of 1788 in removing to Mercer County, Kentucky, and settling near Ft. Harrod, now Harrodsburg.

Milton Burford later moved to Louisville, Kentucky, where he engaged in the business of shipping provisions and produce by flatboat to New Orleans and other towns along the Mississippi River. He married, lived many years, and died leaving a widow, two daughters and one son. The son, Cary, was born in 1806, moved to Corydon, Harrison County, Indiana, where he married. In 1854 he moved his family to Farmer City, Illinois, where he died in 1879, aged 73 years.

Cary Burford, the youngest son of Daniel James Burford, after remaining some time in Kentucky, removed to Tennessee, where he married. His descendants are living throughout the South.

Daniel Burford, the fourth son of Daniel James and Polly Ann Jones Burford, was born in Amherst County, Virginia, March 11th, 1767. (The County was named after the first Crown Governor Jeffrey Amherst.) As already stated Daniel Burford, together with two of his brothers, Milton and Cary, and his widowed sister-in-law, moved to Ft. Harrod, Kentucky, in the fall of 1788. He later settled on the Rainey farm in Shaker Bend of the Kentucky River, Mercer County, Kentucky. On September 1st, 1794, he married Amy Noel. They had ten children, named John Noel, William Daniel, Elijah Harrison, Thomas Marion, Miles Washington, Sally, Polly, James Monroe, Miranda and Amanda. Daniel Burford in company with his sons John Noel, William Daniel, James Monroe, and daughters Sally, Miranda and Amanda, moved to Parke County, Indiana, entering and purchasing enough land to give each one a farm. All of his children who went to Indiana with him married in Parke County, except William Daniel, who married in Washington County, and Sally, who married in Mercer County, Kentucky, before going to Indiana. Daniel Burford for many years spent his time with his children in Kentucky and Indiana. His wife, Amy Noel Burford, died November 23d, 1850, at the residence of their son, Elijah Harrison Burford, in Harrodsburg, while Daniel was in Parke County, Indiana. Amy was buried in the Noel lot on the farm formerly owned by her father, John Barnard Noel, and later by her son, Thomas Marion Burford, across the Lexington road from the Rainey farm, where their ten children were born and raised, until grown, except Polly, who died there in her sixteenth year. Daniel Burford died August 29th, 1853, and was buried the following day at Harrodsburg Spring Hill Cemetery, from the residence of his son Thomas Marion Burford of Harrodsburg. He was 86 years old at the time of his death, and eight of his ten children survived him.

THE TOWN SEAL
of the Town of Burford, England.

The name of the town has been spelled Boergford, Burgford and Burford at different periods in its history.

"In the days which we are accustomed to speak of as Anglo-Saxon, Burford was known as Boergford. Camden says Boerg means a hill or barrow, and so the derivation of the name is, a town built on a hill, at the foot of which is a ford."—Burford, by William J. Monk.
